

Twister-Inspired Party Game Spinner

We made this game to play at our Lalaloopsy Birthday Party, and it was lots of fun. For more information on how to make a corresponding game mat visit our blog at PagingSupermom.com

INSTRUCTIONS: Print this template out on a 11x17 cardstock. You will also need an unprinted 11x17 sheet for the back of your board. To assemble cut both sheets of 11x17 cardstock down to the board size (11x11 in).

Using a 1 to 1.5-inch circle punch cut out the dotted circles shown at right to create windows for your fabric to show through.

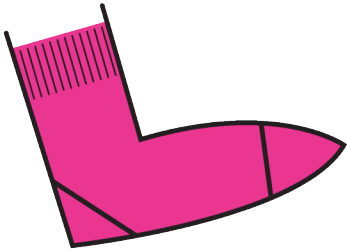

Glue scraps of each of the fabrics (that correspond with your playing mat) to the back side so they will show through the hole windows you've created.

Once all the windows are cut and the fabric is in place, glue your blank cardstock piece onto the backside to cover and secure all the fabric scraps.

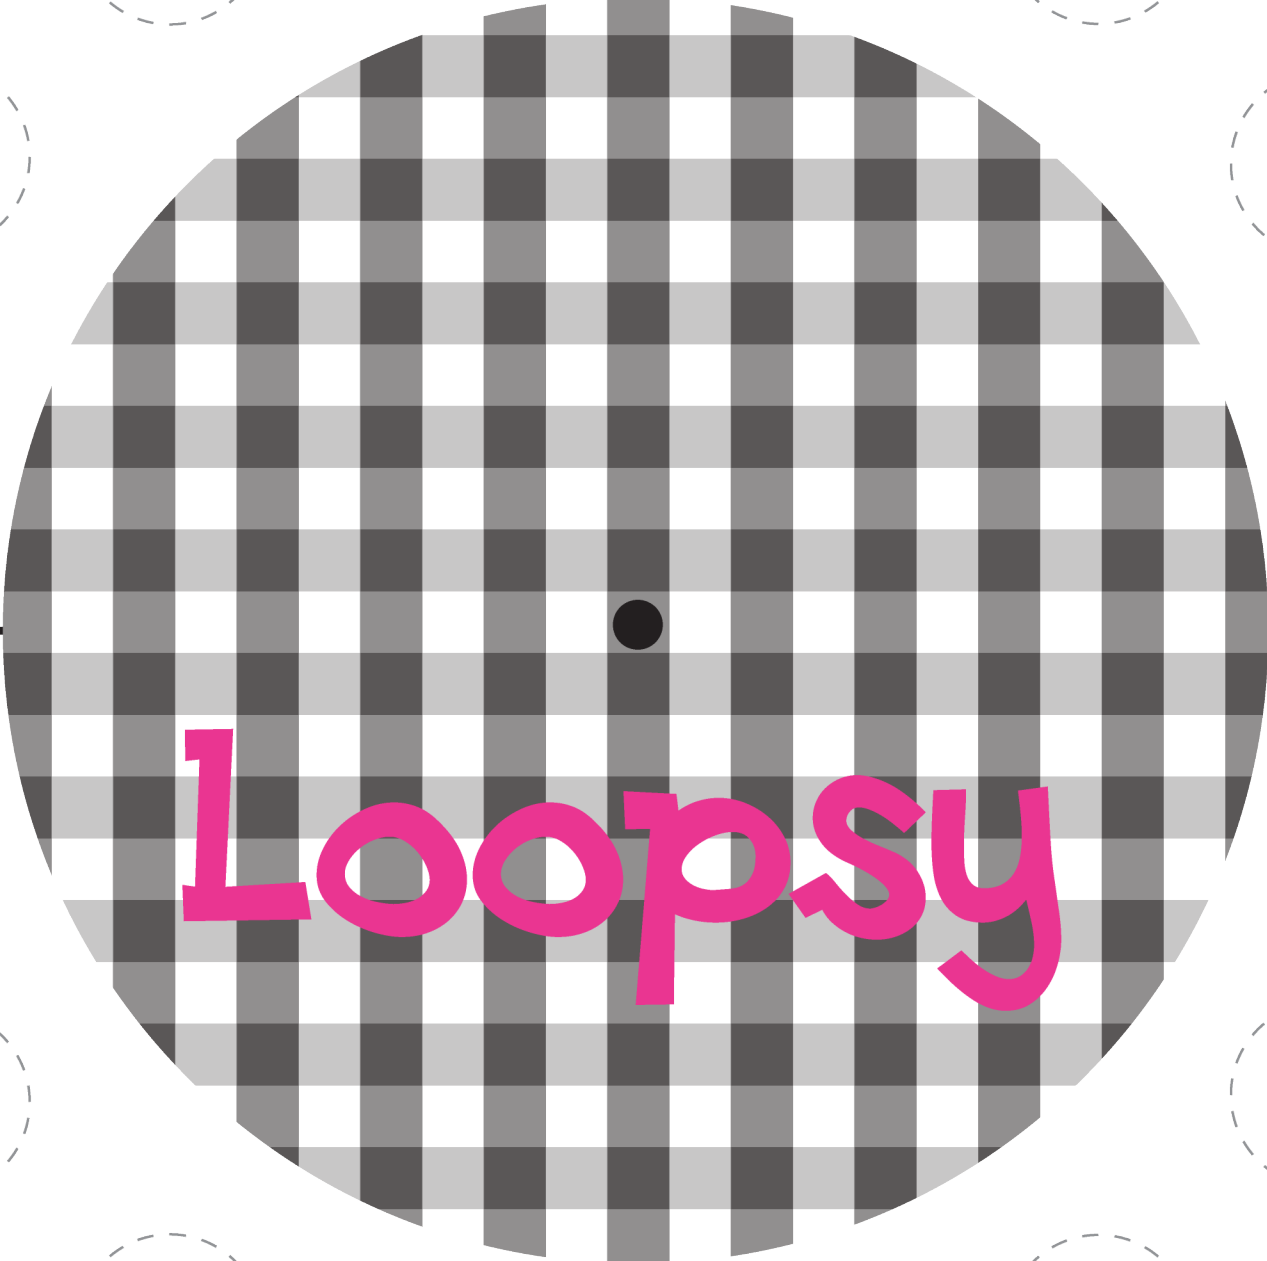

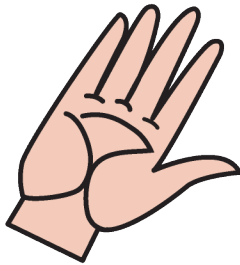

SHORTCUT: Instead of using fabric scraps you can color in the gray circles with a marker that corresponds to the color of the fabric on your game mat.

Cut out the black spinner at right. Crease at the dotted line and thread one end through a paper clip. Glue the ends together to make your spinner. Attach the spinner to the black dot at the center of the game board with a brad. We glued a decorative button to the top of the brad.
